

Rhymes and songs

For rhymes and songs you may wish to use ones you already know and substitute words. There are also song lyric generators online that you can use – rap styles seem to work best as they easily make more sense but the X factor style ballad can be surprisingly good too!

I'm sure you already know rhymes for the various things to help with recall but consider this style if you like audio learning or are good at rhyming – it can help to work together as a team with friends or classmates as making these funny or personal can really help with your recall, and we learn better when we are relaxed!

Now here is where I'm struggling as I have not a musical bone or even cell in my body! Don't worry if this is also you as some fab people have done some of the work for you or created inspiration for this with musical abilities!

Check Youtube for more, but always check their facts are correct in your textbooks! One example is here and there are more to be found:
